Green Howards Terms and Conditions for reproduction of works within the museum.

1. Any correspondence regarding the reproduction of photographic or other materials within the museum must be addressed to the Curator.
2. The museum will not supply any reproduction or give any permission to supply material that the museum does not hold or is un-sure if they hold the copyright to. Also the museum can refuse the right to supply reproduced material if they deem it to be held under the Official Secrets Act or any Security Classification. The Curator of the museum can withhold any work done if it is deemed inappropriate. Photographs for personal usage are subject to strict terms. You are only permitted to use the reproduced material for home research and private study; any reproductions stated on your order form are for your personal use only. You must not supply the image to any other person.
3. The museum shall be entitled to charge for reproduction of materials set out in the charges sheet. This includes filming, photography and copying. VAT is charged to U.K and E.U customers, it is charged at 15%. The customer will have 30 days to pay the invoice. Any work that is undertaken without permission of the museum will have additional charges which must be paid within 5 days. For the research done, either for personal or commercial use there will be a charge. Personal research will be charged at £20 per hour. Commercial research is split into two categories, Small Productions and Large Productions. A small production is classed as current affairs and documentaries and is charged at £60 per hour. Large productions are T.V dramas and Film productions and are charged at £120 per hour.
4. If the customer wants a photograph that there is no known negative for, there may be a charge for the work done. The customer will be informed in advance to see if they want it to be done.

5. The museum always goes to great extents to make sure the information supplied to the customer is correct.
If any loss or damage is caused to any person or action the museum will not accept liability.

Copyright.

- 1A. As stated in terms and conditions -- Item 2, the museum holds the copyright on images, works and materials in its collection, and reproductions made by the museum and members of its staff.
- 1B. If the museum does not own the copyright to the material, you are not permitted to contact the person who is last known to hold it. If a written letter of assistance is received by the museum, the museum will approach the person at their last known address for permission to reproduce the material.
- 1C. You are not permitted to change, adapt or modify in any way the material you receive from the museum, any manipulation of images, film and document from the museum is only allowed with express written permission of the Curator.
- 1D. You are to use the reproduced material only for the terms set out in the agreement given to you. If the material is used for anything else it is seen as a breach of the copyright.

Terms and Conditions for Publications and Commercial use.

- 1A. All media that contains the reproduced material from the museum must have a copy sent to the museum on the date of release or publication.
- 1B. Any advertising that contains material from the museum must have the prior approval of the Curator. Approval will not be withheld unless the Curator deems the content to be used in an inappropriate manner or context, which reflects badly on the reputation of the museum.
- 1C. If you require a reproduction for any means, which includes any published work in any format or visual display, you must seek the permission of the museum, and where applicable pay the necessary fees.

1D. The fee paid is for the sole purpose stated on the order from. If for any reason you need to re-use reproduced material from the museum, be it for re-prints, updates or a follow on, you will need to make out another application to the museum and pay the appropriate fee.
